Background

This added meeting to the Series will open with presentations from a selected group of non-electric distribution companies (“EDC”) stakeholders with an interest in a more effective interconnection process in New Jersey. Discussion topics will cover technical, financial, and procedural issues regarding the current grid interconnection process. Staff is interested in presentations that cover a diversity of project size, technologies, and organization types. Staff envisions selecting approximately 6-7 presenters and will endeavor to ensure that various interests and a diversity of opinions, constituencies, and business models are represented.

Interested parties that wish to present on a particular topic can self-nominate by submitting an email on or before January 12, 2022 with the subject line “Request to be a Presenter on January 28, 2022” to Paul.Heitmann@bpu.nj.gov, with the following information:

2. Your primary and secondary choice of topic, and
3. Short description (no more than a page) explaining why you should be selected for the panel.

Selected presenters will be notified on approximately January 17, 2022 and will be instructed to submit final presentation materials no later than 48 hours in advance of the meeting. An agenda and list of presenters will be published on the Grid Modernization website in advance of the meeting.

The meeting format will be a sequence of the presentations, allowing 15-20 minutes for each presenter. There will also be an opportunity for clarifying questions after all presentations are completed, followed by a general comment period for stakeholders who requested during the registration process to speak at the meeting.

This online meeting, like all in the Series, will be recorded for later review. All presentations will be available at <https://njcleanenergy.com/gridmod>.
