merated in P.L. 2022, c.107 and Additional Information

Explanation

Sections 2 and 3 of P.L. 2022, c. 107 call for certain data to be "organized by...municipality...". However, JCP&L does not track customer data by municipality, and while the Company tracks mailing address for each customer, this does not necessarily correspond with the incorporated local government entity within which the customer's premise is located. Thus data cannot be provided "by municipality".

JCP&L does not track and cannot isolate "(1) the overall impact [of COVID] on local utility and public utility supply, demand, revenues, and expenses". There are numerous variables other than the direct impact of COVID that may have affected these measurements: customer behavior; the cost of materials, supplies, labor, and other inputs; commodity (energy supply) costs; and other factors affecting supply, demand, revenues and expenses. The Company cannot isolate the impact of COVID from variables such as these. Notwithstanding the foregoing, JCP&L's quarterly reporting in I/M/O the New Jersey Board of Public Utilities' Response to the COVID-19 Pandemic, BPU Docket No. AO20060471, contains the Company's most recent calculation of incremental costs and savings associated with the COVID-19 pandemic.

JCP&L does not presently track customer count by zip code.

The Company did not track disconnection and reconnections by zip code in 2019, so 2019 zip code data is not included for disconnections and reconnections. The Company does not presently track the number of disconnection notices sent by zip code for any of the applicable periods. The Company does not track "average time between service disconnection due to non-payment and service reconnection" as there has not been any legal or regulatory requirement to do so. JCP&L does not maintain in its data the amount of time that elapses between when a customer is disconnected and when the same customer is reconnected; thus, it is not possible to determine an average for underlying data that does not exist.

JCP&L does not place "liens on real property placed, sold, or enforced due to non-payment" as part of its billing collections activities.

The "number of customers enrolled in deferred payment arrangements" is not presently available by zip code.

JCP&L does not track the "(8) the number of customers that ... successfully completed... a deferred payment agreement..." The Company does track defaults and will continue to report this data.

JCP&L does not have the ability to determine all assistance programs potentially available to customers and believes it appropriate for this data to be reported by State agencies. The Company's response to Section 11 includes programs to which JCP&L's customers are actually enrolled.

JCP&L does not have the ability to determine all assistance programs to which its customers have applied and believes it appropriate for this data to be reported by State agencies supporting these programs. The Company's response to Section 11 includes programs to which JCP&L customers are actually enrolled.

JCP&L does not track "the number of customers receiving assistance under each utility assistance program" by zip code.

JCP&L does not charge "late fees, penalties, or interest" to residential customers. Late fees, pursuant to BPU rules, [at NJAC 14:3-7.1(e)] are charged to non-residential customers. However, the Company does not currently track the total dollar amount of late fees.

Average and median billing data is not currently available for 2019 and 2021 as it has been archived out of JCP&L's reporting systems. Thus it is not reported herein. "Usage" is only available in aggregate form, and thus cannot be provided as an "average" or "median".

Billing and Payments data is not currently available for 2019 and 2021 as it has been archived out of the Company reporting systems.

During the reporting month, JCP&L provided all residential customers with the Customer Bill of Rights as a bill insert. JCP&L also provided a bill insert to customers which set forth their rights to amortization of bills under New Jersey regulations. JCP&L also ran video campaigns on social media discussing the assistance options available to customers.

Paragraph 16 requires a BPU assessment of "whether existing customer assistance programs are presently, and in the future, sufficient to meet the financial needs of customers in arrears who are unable to pay those arrears in full, as well as the needs of any customers who may be unable to pay future bills." As such, JCP&L is not providing any information specifically responding to this section.

JCP&L does not have projects that fall under the reporting criteria of this paragraph: "any planned local utility and public utility infrastructure projects that were scheduled to take place during or after the reporting period that were canceled or for which the actual or anticipated start date was delayed due to the financial or other impacts of the coronavirus 2019 pandemic." PL 2022, c.107 does not define "reporting period"; we interpret "reporting period" to be September 2022 for purposes of this report. While there may have been delayed utility work during the reporting period, JCP&L does not believe that any such delays were directly attributable solely to the coronavirus 2019 pandemic.
