

Humpback whale washed up in Atlantic City had a head injury, officials say, as groups call for wind turbine inquiry

A juvenile humpback whale that washed ashore near the Atlantic City beach on Saturday was found with a large head injury, officials said. The whale was found by a local resident, Amy S. Rosenburg.

By Amy S. Rosenburg and Frank Kummer
Published 11/11/2014 11:47 AM

ATLANTIC CITY — A young humpback whale that washed up on Atlantic City beach on Saturday had evidence of a large head injury, officials said Monday.